WASHINGTON:
GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE,
1894.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF
THE PUBLIC PRINTER.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC PRINTER,
Washington, D. C., January 3, 1894.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith to Congress a report of the condition and operations of this office for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1893.

Very respectfully,

F. W. PALMER,
Public Printer.

Hon. A. E. STEVENSON,
President of the Senate.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

In obedience to the laws regulating the public printing, I have the honor to report to you the condition and the amount and cost of the public printing, binding, lithographing, and engraving; the amount and cost of all papers purchased for the same; a statement of the contracts entered into for the purchase of paper and other material and for lithographing and engraving; all payments made during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1893, including those for material and labor for the Congressional Record; the amount of work ordered and done, with a general classification thereof, for each Department; the number of persons employed in the Government Printing Office, and the time each has been employed and the amount each has received, and other information touching matters connected with said printing office.

The tabular statements accompanying this report are presented in the following order: No. 1 is a statement of the financial business of the Government Printing Office for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1893, and the condition of the appropriations July 1, 1893. No. 2 is a recapitulation of statement of condition of appropriations July 1, 1893. No. 3 is a classified statement of payments by appropriations for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1893. No. 4 is a statement showing expenditures for labor, material, paper, lithographing, and engraving during fiscal years 1886 to 1893, both inclusive. No. 5 shows the disbursements on account of salaries and contingent expenses in the office of the Public Printer. No. 6, the disbursements on account of public printing and binding (except Congressional Record). No. 7, the disbursements on account of paper for the public printing (except Congressional Record). No. 8, the disbursements on account of Congressional Record. No. 9, the disbursements on account of lithographing and engraving (except Congressional Record). No. 10, the disbursements on account of printing Annual Report (1890) of the Secretary of Agriculture. No. 11, the disbursements on account of printing Annual Report (1891) of the Secretary of Agriculture. No. 12, the disbursements on account of printing Annual Report (1892) of the Secretary of Agriculture. No. 13, the disbursements on account of removal and storage of certain material, Government Printing Office. No. 14, the disbursements on account of printing Decisions of Department of the Interior regarding Public Lands and Pensions. No. 15, the disbursements on account of publication of the Eleventh Census Reports. No. 16, the disbursements on account of printing second edition of Growth of Industrial Art. No. 17, the documents printed by authority of law or by order of either House of Congress, the approximate cost of printing and binding them, and the manner in which they were distributed. No. 18, allotments, etc., for the Executive and Judicial Departments and the approximate cost of the work executed for the same. No. 19, the distribution of the bound and unbound volumes of the Congressional Record for the second session of the Fifty-second Congress. No. 20, contracts made (by direction of the Joint Committee on Printing) for supplying printing and other paper from March 1, 1893, to February 28, 1894. No. 21, contracts made for materials, etc. (except printing paper), during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1893. No. 22, contracts made for lithographing and engraving for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1893. No. 23, proposals received by the Joint Committee on Printing for furnishing paper for the public printing from March 1, 1893, to February 28, 1894. No. 24, proposals for supplying materials, etc. (except printing paper). No. 25, proposals for lithographing and engraving. No. 26, number of persons employed in the public printing and binding, the length of time each was employed, and the amount earned by each. No. 27, the number of persons employed in printing Annual Report (1890) of the Secretary of Agriculture, the length of time each was employed, and the amount earned by each. No. 28, the number of persons employed in printing Annual Report (1891) of the Secretary of Agriculture, the length of time each was employed, and the amount earned by each. No. 29, the number of persons employed in printing Annual Report (1892) of the Secretary of Agriculture, the length of time each was employed, and the amount earned by each. No. 30, the number of persons employed in printing Decisions of Department of the Interior regarding Public Lands and Pensions, the length of time each was employed, and the amount earned by each. No. 31, the number of persons employed in publication of the Eleventh Census Reports, the length of time each was employed, and the amount earned by each. No. 32, the number of persons employed in printing second edition of Growth of Industrial Art, the length of time each was employed, and the amount earned by each.

In each annual report made by me I have recommended most urgently the necessity for a new fireproof building of enlarged dimensions for this office. Considerations of economy for the Government and the safety of human life have been suggested in such manner as seemed most likely to secure early action by Congress. Up to this time no plan for the extension of the present plant nor the selection of a new site has been adopted. The increase of outside storage room, as hereinafter indicated, has helped to diminish the danger of collapse in the weaker portions of this building, but the risk of destruction by fire is an ever present menace. The loss of property and consequent embarrassment to the Government by such a calamity can not well be overestimated, but even under the most favorable conditions the loss of human life would in all probability be large. Every safeguard has been provided by my predecessors and myself with which to meet such an emergency, but in those portions of the building constructed of combustible materials, filled as they necessarily are by inflammable material, such as books, paper, ink, oils, etc., the most careful precautions furnish no adequate guaranty against the destruction of the building in case fire should get under headway. Under these circumstances I appeal most earnestly to Congress for such legislation at the earliest possible day as will provide relief from the present ill-ventilated, circumscribed, unsafe condition of the Government Printing Office.

Immediately following the collapse of the Ford's Theater building, on Tenth street in this city, and the loss of many human lives, the employés of the Government Printing Office expressed grave apprehension of a like disaster to themselves unless measures should be adopted at once to relieve the H street and the North Capitol street wings from a portion of their weight. After a careful investigation of buildings suitable for the storage of printed matter awaiting completion, the one-story fireproof building owned by the Washington and Georgetown Railroad Company, on B street near 1st, southwest, formerly occupied as a street-car shed, was rented temporarily, and is now used for storage purposes for this office. Four buildings outside of the Government Printing Office, at an annual rental of $9,120, are now occupied for this purpose. The loading, unloading, transportation, and storage of this uncompleted printed matter involve unavoidably much labor, delay, and expense. In three of the buildings thus used there is the same liability to loss by fire that there is in the H street and North Capitol street wings of the Government Printing Office.

Respectfully submitted.

F. W. PALMER,
Public Printer.
